Dear Families and Friends,

Welcome back to an unusual start to the Summer Term! (Albeit, for most of us, from the comfort of our own homes, during these strange times!)

It was great to see so many of you earlier in the week as I turned delivery driver for the day. I still feel great now after seeing so many happy faces, especially the children's!

These learning packs contain enough work for the next five weeks, although we do not know how long the lockdown will last (but, just in case). There is no strict requirement to complete all the tasks everyday as I know your schedules and home working will take priority. However, as I said to many of you on Tuesday, the packs and daily videos are designed to keep a good routine for children and to keep learning 'ticking over' during this extended period away from school.

Well done to everyone that has submitted learning through Class Dojo and earned lots of Dojos. I have been immensely proud of the quantity and quality of learning going on in and out of the home. Please see some of the photos on the next page!

In school, we have had very few students and some days we have not opened at all. Should you wish to contact me on a day when the school is 'closed' then you may get in touch through e-mail, Class Dojo or, in emergencies, through the school mobile: 07561 826989.

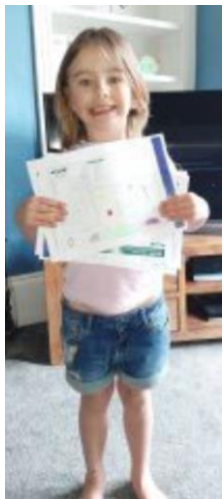

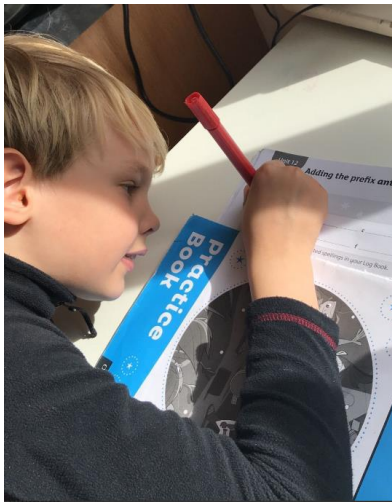

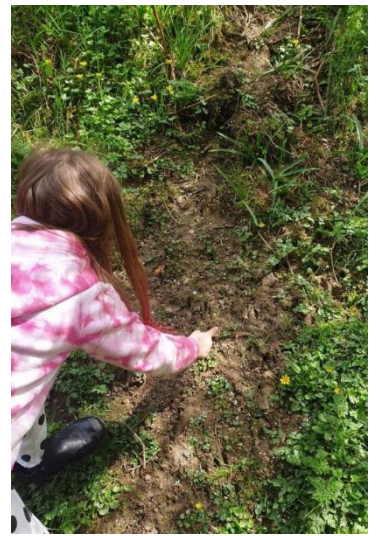

I am looking forward to seeing more faces join us next week at school, as I know some parents'/carers' shift patterns and circumstances have changed, meaning we will see some different children in school. I'm looking forward to seeing them! However, can I remind you that each parent/carer request for childcare is judged individually and all possible childcare options should be considered before sending a child to school. For instance, this may include parents/carers working differently, either by completing work on evenings or weekends, arranging shifts with their partner (if they have one), to share childcare or to delay non-essential. It is paramount that, wherever possible, students do not come into school, even if parents/carers are key workers. Thank you for your understanding.

I will endeavour to keep you up-to-date with developments. However, schools get no prior warning and receive the same government messages at the same time as you do at home. Nevertheless, we will always act in the best interests of the children, with their safety being our priority, even after the lockdown has been lifted (whenever that may be!).

Enjoy what is promised to be a fabulous weekend!
